MILITARY SERVICE RELIEF ORGANIZATIONS

Each branch of Service has a relief organization that provides service members and their families with financial assistance in times of need. Typically, these organizations provide emergency financial assistance to address the following needs:

- food, rent, and utilities
- emergency transportation and vehicle repair
- funeral expenses
- medical/dental expenses
- personal needs when pay is delayed or stolen
- undergraduate-level education for children of service members through scholarships based primarily on financial need

The Service relief organizations do not provide financial assistance to:

- pay bills for nonessentials
- finance ordinary leave, liberty, or vacation
- pay fines or legal expenses
- pay taxes
- liquidate or consolidate debt
- purchase a home or make home improvements
- purchase, rent, or lease a vehicle
- cover bad checks or pay credit card bills
- help service members and their families live beyond their means

The financial assistance is usually provided to service members and their families through interest-free loans. When repayment is determined to cause a hardship on the family, the assistance can be provided through a grant that does not need to be repaid, or through a combination of grants and interest-free loans. The individual branches of Service relief organizations are Army Emergency Relief \(AER\), Navy-Marine Corps Relief Society \(NMCRS\), Air Force Aid Society \(AFAS\), and Coast Guard Mutual Assistance \(CGMA\).

CASUALTY ASSISTANCE

GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY PROGRAMS

Department of Veterans Affairs (VA)

The VA offers bereavement counseling to parents, spouses, and children of military personnel who died in the service of their country. Family members of National Guard and Reserve service members who die while on duty are also eligible. VA's bereavement counseling is free of charge and provided at community-based Vet Centers. More information can be found on the VA Bereavement Counseling website.

The VA Vet Center program is designed to provide readjustment counseling to veterans exposed to the uniquely stressful conditions of military service in a combat theatre of operations. Community-based Vet Centers also provide bereavement counseling services to surviving parents, spouses, children, and siblings of service members who die while on active duty, to include federally activated National Guard and Reserve personnel. Bereavement counseling includes a broad range of transition services including outreach, counseling, and referral services for family members. There is no cost for VA bereavement counseling. More information is available by contacting the Readjustment Counseling Service at 202-461-6530 or online at the Vet Center website.

Army

The Army Casualty website provides casualty assistance resources for family members to assist them in their time of bereavement. Operated by the Army Casualty and Mortuary Affairs Operation Center (CMAOC), the Army Casualty site contains links to publications, laws, forms, benefits, terms, acronyms, and the Survivor's Casualty Assistance Guide. More information is available on the Army Casualty website.

The MyArmyBenefits website provides summaries of federal and state benefits for over 150 programs to include detailed information on the benefits available to active duty Soldiers, retired Soldiers, Army National Guard Soldiers on federal and state active duty, Army National Guard Soldiers in drilling status, activated Army Reserve Soldiers, and drilling Army Reserve Soldiers. Included on the site are separate sections for Burial and Memorial Benefits, Continued Housing Benefits for Survivors, Death Gratuity Payments, Dependency and Indemnity Compensation \(DIC\), Survivors' and Dependents' Educational Assistance \(DEA\), and the Survivor Benefit Plan \(SBP\).

Army Emergency Relief (AER) is a private, nonprofit organization whose sole mission is to help Soldiers and their dependents. AER can provide emergency financial assistance to Soldiers (active duty and retired) and their dependents when there is a valid need. AER can assist surviving family members by arranging necessary transportation, providing low-cost loans, and offering other forms of support to Army families in need. More information is available on the AER website.

The Army National Guard (ARNG) Casualty Notification/Casualty Assistance assists the Army CMAOC and Casualty Assistance Centers with the mission of assigning Casualty Notification and Casualty Assistance Officers to help families during their time of need. More information is available on the ARNG Casualty Notification/Casualty Assistance website.

Marine Corps

Marine Corps Casualty Assistance provides information and assistance to surviving family members to include death notification, coordination of funeral arrangements, and application for benefits and entitlements. More information is available on the Marine Corps Casualty Assistance website.

The Navy-Marine Corps Relief Society (NMCRS) is a private, nonprofit organization providing financial, educational, and other assistance to Sailors, Marines, eligible family members, and survivors when in need. Services provided include emergency financial assistance, budget counseling, visiting nurses, and emergency financial assistance to qualifying Marines in the form of a low interest loan. NMCRS can assist surviving family members of fallen Marines and Sailors by arranging transportation, providing low-cost loans, and offering other forms of support to families in need. More information is available on the NMCRS website.

Navy

The Navy Casualty Assistance Division provides family members of fallen Sailors with information and assistance during their time of need. The website lists several links to relevant forms and publications, including a link to the downloadable Department of Defense (DoD) Survivor's Guide to Benefits. More information is available on the Navy Casualty Assistance Division website.

The NMCRS is a private, nonprofit organization providing financial, educational, and other assistance to Sailors, Marines, eligible family members, and survivors when in need. Services provided include emergency financial assistance, budget counseling, visiting nurses, and emergency financial assistance to qualifying Sailors in the form of a low interest loan. NMCRS can assist surviving family members of fallen Marines and Sailors by arranging transportation, providing low-cost loans, and offering other forms of support to families in need. More information is available on the NMCRS website.

Air Force

The Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC) Casualty Services website provides links and documents for service members and their families including contact information, forms, and death benefit information. Rather than being subject-oriented, the site uses a Question and Answer format to address a wide range of topics. More information is available on the AFPC Casualty Services website (account required).

The Air Force Mortuary Affairs Operations Center (AFMAOC) assists family members by coordinating all available resources to support family needs following an unexpected loss of life. More information is available on the AFMAOC website.

The Air Force Aid Society (AFAS) is a private, nonprofit organization providing emergency financial assistance to Air Force members and their families, including interest-free loans, grants, or a combination of both. AFAS maintains an open door policy, encouraging individuals to apply for assistance when they feel an emergency situation exists. AFAS provides emergency assistance for surviving spouses and dependent minor orphans following the death of an Air Force member. More information is available on the AFAS website.

Coast Guard

The Coast Guard Mutual Assistance (CGMA) is a private, nonprofit organization providing financial assistance to members of the Coast Guard community during times of need. CGMA provides unremarried widowed spouses and the dependent children of deceased members of the Coast Guard with financial assistance to cover costs while waiting for Death Gratuity or other insurance payments. CGMA can also provide long-term financial assistance. More information is available on the CGMA website.

COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS

The American Red Cross is the nation's premier emergency response organization. In addition to domestic disaster relief, the American Red Cross offers compassionate services in five other areas: community services that help the needy; support and comfort for military members and their families; the collection, processing, and distribution of lifesaving blood and blood products; educational programs that promote health and safety; and international relief and development programs. The Casualty Travel Assistance Program (CTAP) provides travel assistance for two immediate family members to attend a memorial or funeral service for a service member killed on active duty in a combat zone, and to travel to the bedside of a service member wounded in a combat zone. Assistance includes funding for roundtrip airfare, lodging costs, and food and incidentals. The American Red Cross also provides assistance and information in preparing, developing, and obtaining sufficient evidence to support applicants' claims for veterans' benefits. More information can be found on the American Red Cross website.

Armed Forces Foundation Bereavement Program

Armed Forces Foundation provides emergency financial assistance, vehicle modifications, laptops, housing assistance, tickets to recreation events, phone cards, and transportation assistance. The Armed Forces Foundation's Bereavement Program offers family retreats, provides for professional grief counseling in an attempt to help families cope with their loss, and helps to offset funeral costs and travel arrangements for military families in times of mourning. More information can be found on the Armed Forced Foundation website.

Children's Grief Education Association (CGEA) Military Families

The CGEA is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the needs of grieving children and families and to providing education and support to those who serve them. Included on the CGEA website are specific coping mechanisms targeted to children of military families. More information can be found on the CGEA website.

Comfort Zone Camp

Comfort Zone Camp is a bereavement camp for children started by West Point alumni. The camp's program is designed to mirror the way a child grieves. Developed by grief therapists, it combines activities such as arts, crafts, and games with quieter periods of reflection, allowing children to heal through play, smiles, tears, and memories. Each child is matched with a "Big Buddy," a trained adult volunteer who spends the entire weekend with that child to provide support and encouragement. Additionally, the children participate in Healing Circles led by experienced grief professionals. More information about Comfort Zone Camp, a camp calendar, and application forms is available by calling (866) 488-5679 (toll free) or (804) 377-3430.

Families United for Our Troops and Their Mission

Families United for Troops and Their Mission is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization. They are a grassroots coalition of Gold Star and Blue Star families that provides a means for Gold Star Families, who have lost loved ones in the defense of the United States, to find solace in each other's company. More information can be found on the Families United for Our Troops and Their Mission website.

Gold Star Wives (GSW) of America

GSW of America is an organization of widows and widowers whose spouses died while on active duty in the military or as the result of a military service-connected cause. The primary mission of GSW of America is to provide service, support, and friendship to others who have suffered a similar loss. More information can be found on the GSW of America website.

Tragedy Assistance Program for Survivors, Inc. (TAPS)

TAPS is a national, nonprofit organization made up of, and providing services to, all those who have lost a service member. TAPS provides surviving family members with assistance through peer support, crisis intervention, case work, grief and trauma resources, and the TAPS support network. More information can be found on the TAPS website.

CHILDREN AND YOUTH

GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY PROGRAMS

Army

Army Children, Youth and School Services (CYS) provides service members and their families with a wide range of information and services. CYS can provide information regarding child care centers, Family Child Care homes, referral services, School-Age Services, middle school and teen programs, and sports and fitness programs for children and youth. More information is available on the Army CYS website.

The MyArmyBenefits website provides summaries of federal and state benefits for over 150 programs to include detailed information on the benefits available to active duty Soldiers, retired Soldiers, Army National Guard Soldiers on federal and state active duty, Army National Guard Soldiers in drilling status, activated Army Reserve Soldiers, and drilling Army Reserve Soldiers. Included on the site are separate sections for Child Development Centers, CYS, Family Child Care, and School-Age Services and Care.

The Army Reserve Child and Youth Program provides classes, camps, and other activities for children of Reserve Soldiers. More information is available on the Army Reserve Child & Youth Services website.

The National Guard Child and Youth Program establishes and facilitates ongoing communication, involvement, support, and recognition between National Guard families and the National Guard in a partnership that promotes the best in both. More information is available on the National Guard Child and Youth Program website.

Marine Corps

The Marine Corps Children, Youth, and Teen Programs provide child care services for children ages six months to eighteen years through Child Development Centers, Family Child Care homes, School-Age Care, Resource and Referral, Youth Activities, Teen Activities, and Youth Sports, Fitness, and Recreation Programs. More information is available on the Marine Corps Children, Youth, and Teen Programs website.

Navy

The Navy Child and Youth Programs offer child care services through Child Development Centers, Child Development Homes (called Family Child Care Homes in other branches of Service), Youth and School-Age Care, and Teen Programs. More information is available on the Navy Child and Youth Programs website.

The United States Navy Reserve (USNR) Ombudsman Online provides information for activated and mobilized Reserve Sailors to include topics pertaining to child care for deployed Sailors. The Navy Ombudsman program can help Navy Reserve service members find information related to child care and child care resources in their local communities. More information is available on the USNR Ombudsman website.

Air Force

The Air Force Family Member Programs provide Child Development Centers, Family Child Care Programs, and School-Age Care Programs. More information is available on the Air Force Family Member Programs website.

The National Guard Child and Youth Program establishes and facilitates ongoing communication, involvement, support, and recognition between National Guard families and the National Guard in a partnership that promotes the best in both. More information is available on the National Guard Child and Youth Program website.

Family Readiness Offices can help Air Force Reserve service members with a number of deployment-related issues. Support provided includes resources and referral services to appropriate programs in the local civilian community. More information is available on the United States Air Force Reserve \(USAFR\) Family Readiness website.

Coast Guard

The United States Coast Guard (USCG) offers the Child Care Program and support through installation Child Development Centers and Family Child Care providers in Coast Guard-controlled housing. The program also provides families with referrals and contact information for child care agencies in the local community. Coast Guard Reserve service members recalled to active duty can access the same services as active duty members of the Coast Guard. More information is available on the USCG Child Care Program website.

COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS

Armed Services Young Men's Christian Association (ASYMCA)

The ASYMCA is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) national member association of the YMCA that works with the Department of Defense (DoD). Included in the many programs offered through the ASYMCA are parenting workshops, "Daddy & Me Playmornings," "Mommy & Me Playmornings," and the "Mom and Tots Time" program. More information is available on the ASYMCA website.

National Association of Child Care Resource and Referral Agencies (NACCRRA)

NACCRRA works with more than 700 state and local Child Care Resource and Referral agencies nationwide to help ensure that families in the United States have access to high-quality, affordable child care. Through several civilian/military efforts between the Services, NACCRRA and Child Care Resource and Referral agencies work to build the quality and capacity of child care throughout the country for service members and their families. More information on all of the available programs and services can be found on the NACCRRA website. Joint efforts between NACRRA and the branches of Service include:

- Army Child Care in Your Neighborhood (ACCYN) – ACCYN pilot sites for Army families helps families find high-quality child care programs at a cost comparable to those on the installation through fee assistance. Pilot sites include Fort Carson, Fort Stewart/Hunter Army Airfield, Fort Riley, Fort Campbell, Fort Bragg, Fort Drum, Fort Bliss, Fort Sam Houston, Fort Lewis, and United States Southern Command (USSOUTHCOM). More information is available on the ACCYN website.
- Army School-Age Program in Your Neighborhood (ASPYN) – ASPYN helps Army families to find ASPYN-approved providers in their community and fee assistance to help cover the cost of care. More information is available on the ASPYN website.
- Child Care Assistance for Severely Injured Military Members – NACCRRA and the Services have partnered to provide families of severely injured military members with assistance to find and pay for safe, licensed child care services for a period of six months during the period of recuperation. Extensions beyond the six month period will be considered based upon physician reassessment. The program is available nationwide wherever the injured member is receiving either in-patient or out-patient medical care. More information is available on the Child Care Assistance for Severely Injured Military Members website.
- Enhanced Child Care Referral Service – The Enhanced Child Care Referral Service helps military families when the service member is deployed, the active duty service member lives away from a military installation, or the active duty service member lives near a military installation where on installation care is unavailable. It helps families find child care options that meet their needs by providing them with a higher level of service and linking them to their local participating Child Care Resource and Referral (available to Army, Navy, and Marine Corps families). More information is available on the Enhanced Child Care Referral Service website.
- Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood (MCCYN) – MCCYN is a DoD program operated in partnership with NACCRRA. The program is designed to help service members stationed in communities without military installations (such as Recruiters, Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) instructors, Military Entrance Processing (MEP) personnel, and service members on Independent Duty) find affordable, high-quality child care in communities by providing reduced fees for the care of their children. More information is available on the Military Child Care in Your Neighborhood website.
- Operation: Military Child Care (OMCC) – Operated through NACCRRA, OMCC provides child care fee assistance for National Guard and Reserve service members who are activated or deployed and whose children are enrolled in non-DoD-licensed child care programs. OMCC also provides child care fee assistance for deployed active duty members (Army, Marine Corps, Navy, and Air Force) whose children are enrolled in non-DoD licensed child care programs. More information is available on the OMCC website.

COUNSELING

Department of Defense (DoD)

Military OneSource consultants are available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week by phone, online, or via email offering personalized support to any service or family member. Military OneSource can connect individuals with a trained, state-licensed mental health professional in the community, telephonically, or online for free confidential/private counseling. The counseling is not designed to address long-term counseling needs, such as child and spouse abuse, suicidal ideation, and mental illness. People in need of long-term treatment are referred to a military medical treatment facility and/or TRICARE for services. Military OneSource offers twelve free counseling sessions per person, per issue that are short-term, problem focused, and address a variety of topics such as improving relationships at home and at work, marital issues, grief and loss issues (normal reactions that would benefit from short-term support), adjusting to a change in situation (such as a return from deployment or permanent change of duty station), and other issues that are non-medical in nature. Military OneSource counselors are licensed, credentialed, and experienced. They also understand the military culture and its unique challenges. More information is available on the Military OneSource website.

Military and Family Life Consultants (MFLCs) are Masters or PhD-level, licensed, and credentialed clinical providers that offer intervention and support to military members and their families. Similar to Military OneSource, MFLCs provide up to twelve free sessions of non-medical, short-term counseling per person, per issue for every day issues such as anger management, stress, parenting, communication, family relationships, deployment, and other military-related topics. The goal of the program is to support operational readiness and family readiness. Situations requiring mental health treatment are referred to behavioral health agencies that treat these conditions. MFLCs can be accessed through installation locations such as the Army Community Services (ACS), Marine Corps Community Services (MCCS), Navy Fleet and Family Support Centers (FFSC), and the Airman and Family Readiness Centers (A&FRC). MFLCs will also provide support at National Guard and Reserve drill weekends, mobilizations, and family events.

Through the Mental Health Self-Assessment (MHSA) Program, a service member or family member can perform a mental health self-assessment anonymously either by phone or online. Self-assessments are provided for depression, bipolar disorder, alcohol use, posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), and generalized anxiety disorder. The program provides immediate results, referrals, and relevant resources at the end of each assessment. More information is available on the MHSA Program website.

Military Treatment Facilities (MTFs) are available throughout the military and offer counseling services on site by military mental health professionals and doctors. Service members exhibiting high levels of distress, emotional or behavioral symptoms interfering with everyday functioning, or threatening harm to themselves or others should be immediately referred to the MTF for a psychological evaluation. The nearest MTF can be found through the TRICARE MTF locator.

Department of Veterans Affairs (VA)

The VA Vet Center program is designed to provide readjustment counseling to veterans exposed to the uniquely stressful conditions of military service in a combat theatre of operations. Vet Centers provide services in a non-clinical environment that does not carry the stigma sometimes associated with some other mental health or readjustment care. The Vet Center program promotes early intervention and makes every effort to remove the stigma of seeking assistance. Most Vet Center counseling staff members are veterans themselves. Many veterans prefer to speak with a fellow veteran, in a confidential setting, regarding readjustment from military to civilian life following service in a combat zone. Having a large cadre of veterans on staff enables the Vet Centers to maintain a veteran-focused treatment environment that communicates a welcome home attitude and respect for veterans' military service. More information is available on the Vet Center website.

Army

Army OneSource is the website of ACS, the organization providing family programs and services to members of the Army. The Army Family Advocacy Program (FAP) is dedicated to spousal and child abuse prevention, education, prompt reporting, investigation, intervention, and treatment through a variety of services to Soldiers and families to enhance their relationship skills and improve their quality of life. More information is available on the Army FAP website.

Army Chaplains provide several programs to Soldiers and their families to include the Strong Bonds program, a unit-based, chaplain-led program that helps Soldiers and their families build strong relationships. More information is available on the Army Chaplains Corps website.

The MyArmyBenefits website provides summaries of federal and state benefits for over 150 programs to include detailed information on the benefits available to active duty Soldiers, retired Soldiers, Army National Guard Soldiers on federal and state active duty, Army National Guard Soldiers in drilling status, activated Army Reserve Soldiers, and drilling Army Reserve Soldiers. Included on the site is a separate section for Army FAP.

The Army Reserve Warrior and Family Assistance Center (WFAC) provides assistance to Reserve Soldiers, veterans who served in the Army Reserve, retirees from the Army Reserve, and families of all Army Reserve Soldiers through medical care, military and Department of Veterans Affairs benefits, personnel actions, financial difficulties, and individual and family counseling. More information is available on the Army Reserve WFAC website.

Marine Corps

Marine Corps FAP is a command program designed to assist families experiencing the trauma of abuse. Counselors are trained in the dynamics of abuse in order to assist in protecting victims and support families in need of assistance. Services include information on spouse/intimate partner and child abuse, victim advocacy, counseling for individuals, couples and children, as well as support groups for men and women. More information is available on the Marine Corps FAP website.

Navy Chaplains provide spiritual support for members of the Navy and Marine Corps and their families. The Navy Chaplains Corps Distance Support website provides the opportunity to ask a Chaplain a question, request information from a Chaplain, and talk to a Chaplain. More information is available on the Navy Chaplain Corps website.

Navy

Navy clinical counseling is defined as short-term, solution-focused guidance toward resolving personal conflicts, emotional struggles, and interpersonal problems. FFSC clinical counseling components may include professional assessment and intervention with individuals, couples, groups, and families. At FFSC, clinical counselors hold a Masters or PhD in counseling, social work, marriage and family therapy, or psychology. Professionals are fully qualified to assist those in need. More information is available on the Navy Clinical Counseling website.

Navy Chaplains provide spiritual support for members of the Navy and Marine Corps and their families. The Navy Chaplains Corps Distance Support website provides the opportunity to ask a Chaplain a question, request information from a Chaplain, and talk to a Chaplain. More information is available on the Navy Chaplain Corps website.

Air Force

The Air Force FAP website is the central online resource for Air Force FAP and is regularly updated with new information. It includes links to a video center with visual training materials and other materials describing domestic abuse support programs. Please note: At this time, this information requires a Common Access Card/Public Key Infrastructure (CAC/PKI) certification for access. More information is available on the Air Force FAP website.

Air Force Chaplains conduct religious observances, advise leadership, and provide pastoral care through pastoral counseling and religious programs that serve the diverse educational, humanitarian, and personal needs of the Air Force community. More information is available on the Air Force Chaplain Corps website.

Coast Guard

The United States Coast Guard (USCG) FAP is a congressionally-mandated program intended to prevent and reduce the incidence of family violence and create an environment of intolerance for such behavior. Education and proper intervention and rehabilitation services result in prevention of the escalation of violence, serious injury, and homicide. Services are provided to retain productive members in their Coast Guard careers and support the accomplishment of the Coast Guard mission. More information is available on the USCG FAP website.

COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS

Armed Services Young Men's Christian Association (ASYMCA)

The ASYMCA is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) national member association of the YMCA that works with the DoD. Included in the many programs offered through the ASYMCA are home visit counseling and crisis counseling. More information is available on the ASYMCA website.

American Red Cross Information and Referral Services

The American Red Cross is the nation's premier emergency response organization. In addition to domestic disaster relief, the American Red Cross offers compassionate services in five other areas: community services that help the needy; support and comfort for military members and their families; the collection, processing, and distribution of lifesaving blood and blood products; educational programs that promote health and safety; and international relief and development programs. The American Red Cross offers confidential services to all military personnel (active duty, National Guard and Reserves) and their families. Counseling, guidance, information, referrals, and other social services are available through its worldwide network of chapters and offices on military installations. More information is available on the American Red Cross Information and Referral Services website.

Veterans Assistance Foundation (VAF)

The VAF is a nonprofit organization that provides military veterans with referrals for psychological counseling, transitional assistance for the homeless, housing assistance, and employment assistance. More information is available on the VAF website.

DEPLOYMENT SUPPORT

GOVERNMENT AND MILITARY PROGRAMS

Department of Defense (DoD)

Developed by the DoD and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), After Deployment (AD) is a behavioral health web portal focused on post-deployment health problems. AD's intended outreach includes active duty service members, veterans, and their families. It also presents particular advantages for National Guard and Reserve units not located near a military treatment facility (MTF) or otherwise located in areas lacking providers who are knowledgeable about military-related adjustment concerns. AD's twelve programs focus on: Adjusting to War Memories; Dealing with Depression; Handling Stress; Improving Relationships; Succeeding at Work; Overcoming Anger; Sleeping Better; Controlling Alcohol and Drugs; Helping Kids Deal with Deployment; Seeking Spiritual Fitness; Living with Physical Injuries; and Balancing Your Life. More information is available on the AD website.

Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) is a DoD organization operated through a network of over 2,500 volunteers in 55 local ESGR committees in each state, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. ESGR works to educate civilian employers and communities about the National Guard and Reserve through a comprehensive outreach program known as the Civilian Employment Information (CEI) initiative. ESGR works with employers and communities to promote the development of personnel policies designed to accommodate members of the uniformed Services and assists military units in promoting and maintaining positive relationships between employers and National Guard and Reserve employees. ESGR educates service members regarding their obligations to their employers and their rights under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). ESGR also assists them in preventing, resolving, or reducing employer/employee problems and misunderstandings related to USERRA through mediation and ombudsman services. More information is available on the ESGR website.

MilitaryHOMEFRONT Deployment Connections is an online handbook for coping with deployment. It is intended to make it easier to find deployment-related information and support services for active and reserve military members and their families during all phases of deployment and mobilization. More information is available on the Deployment Connections website.

Yellow Ribbon America unites Americans, motivating and assisting America's communities to give direct support to their local military members and their families. Yellow Ribbon America provides the national framework to organize America's cities and towns, delivering immediate and direct support to America's deployed and returning military personnel and their families. The Deployed Military Members & Family Support Program organizes community outreach events to help communities welcome home military members and thank their families for their sacrifices. More information is available on the Yellow Ribbon America Deployed Military & Family Support Program website.

Army

Army OneSource is the website of Army Community Service (ACS), the organization providing family programs and services to members of the Army. Army Mobilization and Deployment provides a number of different resources and services for Soldiers and their families to help them manage a deployment. More information is available on the Army Mobilization and Deployment website.

The Army Family Readiness Groups (FRGs) create a direct connection to a Soldier's unit command information for family members. It also provides links to units' Virtual FRG sites, allowing families to access all of the pertinent information and resources they need to stay informed. More information is available on the Army FRG website.

The MyArmyBenefits website provides summaries of federal and state benefits for over 150 programs to include detailed information on the benefits available to active duty Soldiers, retired Soldiers, Army National Guard Soldiers on federal and state active duty, Army National Guard Soldiers in drilling status, activated Army Reserve Soldiers, and drilling Army Reserve Soldiers. Included on the site are separate sections for Deployment and Mobilization Support and USERRA.

The Army National Guard Virtual Armory Mobilization/Deployment website provides information to National Guard members to help prepare them for mobilization, a pre-mobilization checklist, and information on the post-deployment health reassessment. More information is available on the Army National Guard Virtual Armory Mobilization/Deployment website.

The National Guard's Family Readiness Program provides National Guard service members and their families with information and assistance to help ensure they are prepared for whatever may be ahead of them. To aid families in navigating through military life, the National Guard has developed Six Steps to Family Readiness, addressing challenges, victories, and support networks available to National Guard service members and their families. More information is available on the National Guard Family Readiness website.

Army Reserve FRG membership includes Soldiers' families, both immediate and extended, Soldiers, and other interested parties such as fiancés, friends, retirees, employers, and community members. The goal of the FRG is to establish a network that enables family members to effectively gather information, resolve problems, and maintain mutual support, thereby reducing stress associated with military life. More information is available on the Army Reserve FRG website.

Marine Corps

The Marine Corps provides support to Marines and their families throughout the entire deployment cycle with programs and activities designed to address specific pre, during, and post-deployment issues and challenges. More information is available on the Marine Corps Deployment Support website.

Navy

The Navy Deployment Readiness Program offers a variety of services to Navy family members before, during, and after deployments to help Sailors and their families cope with extended deployments. More information is available on the Navy Deployment Readiness Program website.

Navy Ombudsmen are volunteers, appointed by the commanding officer, that serve as an information link between command leadership and Navy families. Ombudsmen are trained to disseminate information both up and down the chain of command, including official Department of the Navy and command information, command climate issues, and local quality of life improvement opportunities. More information is available on the Navy Ombudsman Program website.

The Navy is moving towards incorporating Individual Augmentee (IA) deployments into regular sea/shore duty assignment rotations. This is being phased in over the next year. This means Sailors may detach from their current command and be assigned to the Expeditionary Combat Readiness Center (ECRC) or they may remain a part of their current command and return to it when they complete their IA tour. This website provides detailed information about IA deployments including Sailor and family member handbooks and links to other related websites. More information is available on the Navy IA Program website.

Navy ECRC directly assists IA and Global War on Terrorism Support Assignment IA Sailors by ensuring they are properly uniformed and equipped while coordinating with the Army to ensure they get the proper stateside training. Training includes instruction in individual combat skills and specialized mission areas to help IAs succeed in their mission and keep them as safe as possible while deployed. The website provides information about the IA deployment cycle and about family support services for IA families. More information is available on the Navy ECRC website.

Navy Reserve Family Readiness provides information for families of deployed or deploying Sailors, including benefits and entitlements information, family readiness checklists, and Navy Reserve Family Newsletters. More information is available on the Navy Reserve Ombudsman Program website.

Air Force

The Air Force Personal and Family Readiness Program assists Airmen and their families in coping with deployments during the pre-deployment stage, during deployment, and when preparing for homecoming. More information is available on the Air Force Personal and Family Readiness website.

The National Guard's Family Readiness Program provides National Guard service members and their families information and assistance to help ensure that families are prepared for whatever may be ahead of them. To aid families in navigating through military life, the National Guard has developed Six Steps to Family Readiness, addressing challenges, victories, and support networks available to National Guard service members and their families. More information is available on the National Guard Family Readiness website.

Coast Guard

COMMUNITY-BASED PROGRAMS

American Legion Heroes to Hometowns

The American Legion is a large, nonprofit veteran service organization that supports the needs of military personnel who have sustained severe injuries and who are preparing to return to local communities. The American Legion operates worldwide through over 15,000 American Legion Posts. Heroes to Hometowns is a transition program for severely injured service members returning home from Operation Enduring Freedom/Operation Iraqi Freedom (OEF/OIF). The program establishes a support network and coordinates resources for severely injured service members. More information is available on the American Legion Heroes to Hometowns website.

Armed Forces Foundation

Armed Forces Foundation provides emergency financial assistance, vehicle modifications, laptops, housing assistance, tickets to recreation events, phone cards, and transportation assistance. The Armed Forces Foundation's Career Counseling Program establishes working relationships between large and small corporations and service members to provide education and employment opportunities free of charge. Its Housing Assistance Program allows veterans and their families to make necessary housing adaptations/upgrades from shower bars and ramps to the purchase of entire houses for those most affected. The Armed Forces Foundation also provides hotel assistance and free lodging to visiting family members of severely injured service members in hospitals. More information is available on the Armed Forces Foundation website.

Coalition to Salute America's Heroes

The Coalition to Salute America's Heroes is a nonprofit organization providing emergency financial assistance, housing assistance, counseling, and employment assistance to service members who were severely wounded during the War on Terror. More information is available on the Coalition to Salute America's Heroes website.

Fisher House Foundation

The Fisher House program is a unique private-public partnership that supports America's military in their time of need. The program recognizes the special sacrifices of men and women in uniform and the hardships of military service by meeting a humanitarian need beyond that normally provided by the DoD and VA. Because members of the military and their families are stationed worldwide and must often travel great distances for specialized medical care, Fisher House Foundation donates "comfort homes," built on the grounds of major military and VA medical centers. These homes enable family members to be close to a loved one during hospitalization for an unexpected illness, disease, or injury. More information is available on the Fisher House Foundation website. The Fisher House Foundation administers the Hero Miles program for the DoD in accordance with the FY05 National Defense Authorization Act. The program is comprised of individual airlines whose passengers donate their frequent flyer miles to assist service members and their families. Specifically, Fisher House Foundation provides free airline tickets to military men and women who are undergoing treatment at a military or VA medical center incident to their service in Iraq or Afghanistan, and their families. More information is available on the Hero Miles website.

Helmets to Hardhats Wounded Warrior Program

Offered as a supplement to the National Helmets to Hardhats program, the Wounded Warrior program provides disabled veterans access to a construction career database including career opportunities such as project supervisors, job estimators, etc. The Wounded Warrior page offers veterans the ability to create an online resume and participate in an online community to learn more about available opportunities. The program is self-selecting, allowing veterans to apply to multiple apprenticeships and Wounded Warrior positions. More information is available on the Helmets to Hardhats Wounded Warrior Program website.

Homes for Our Troops

Homes for Our Troops builds new home or remodels existing homes for veterans who meet the VA guidelines for the Special Adapted Housing Grant. More information is available on the Homes for Our Troops website.

Injured Marine Semper Fi Fund

The Injured Marine Semper Fi Fund provides injured Marines, Sailors, and their families with financial grants during the immediate crisis period following an injury and also provides financial assistance to help address more long-term needs and concerns. More information is available on the Injured Marine Semper Fi Fund website.

National Association of Child Care Resource and Referral Agencies (NACCCRA) Child Care Assistance for Severely Injured Military Members

NACCCRA and the military Services have partnered to provide families of severely injured military members with assistance finding and paying for safe, licensed child care services for a period of six months during their period of recuperation. Extensions beyond the six month period will be considered based upon physician reassessment. The program is available nationwide wherever the injured member is receiving either in-patient or out-patient medical care. More information is available on the NACCRRRA Child Care Assistance for Severely Injured Military Members website.

Operation Homefront Village

Operation Homefront Village allows wounded service members to live rent free while they go through the transition process. Upon placement in Operation Homefront Village, Operation Homefront counselors set up a mandatory schedule for veterans and their families to attend support groups, workshops, benefits briefings, and resume writing classes, as determined by their counselor. Counselors also meet with veterans and their spouse every thirty days to review their financial situation, determine where they are in the transition process, review their attendance in the required workshops and classes, and determine if they still present adequate need to continue living in Operation Homefront Village. Once they have become self sufficient, counselors help veterans find suitable permanent housing. More information is available on the Operation Homefront Village website.

Operation Warfighter

The DoD sponsors Operation Warfighter, an internship program for wounded, ill, and injured service members who are convalescing at military treatment facilities across the United States. Operation Warfighter is designed to provide recuperating service members with meaningful activity outside of the hospital environment that assists in their wellness and offers a formal means of transition back to the civilian workforce. Open to active duty, National Guard, and Reserve components, Operation Warfighter represents an opportunity for service members in a medical hold status to build their resumes, explore employment interests, develop job skills, and gain valuable federal government work experience that will prepare them for the future. The program simultaneously enables participating federal agencies to avail themselves of the considerable talent and dedication of these recuperating service members. More information is available on the Operation Warfighter website.

Our Military Kids

Our Military Kids provides tangible support to the children of deployed and severely injured National Guard and Reserve personnel through grants for sports, fine arts, and tutoring that nurture and sustain the children during the time a service member parent is away. More information is available on the Our Military Kids website.

Special Operations Warrior Foundation

The Special Operations Warrior Foundation provides full scholarship grants and educational and family counseling to the surviving children of special operations personnel who die in operational or training missions, and immediate financial assistance to severely wounded special operations personnel and their families. More information is available on the Special Operations Warrior Foundation website.

United Services Organization (USO)

The USO is a private, nonprofit organization that supports service members and their families by providing morale, welfare, and recreation-type services. For family members of injured service members, the USO can assist in arranging transportation and finding low-cost lodging. More information is available on the USO website.

Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Operation Uplink

Operation Uplink was launched in 1996 to connect active duty troops and hospitalized veterans with their loved ones. The program uses contributions from supporters to purchase phone time for the men and women who are serving or have served, as well as hospitalized veterans. More information is available on the VFW Operation Uplink website.
